FLIGHT OF THE "83" SENIORS

*We must now spread our wings and learn how to fly;
We have been freed from our cage, Home . . . is now the sky.*

*Like birds in captivity, we've been protected by bars and screens,
But now we are free to search and find our own dreams.*

*As we soar to new heights, we must look below,
and set a course for ourselves . . . travel it slow.*

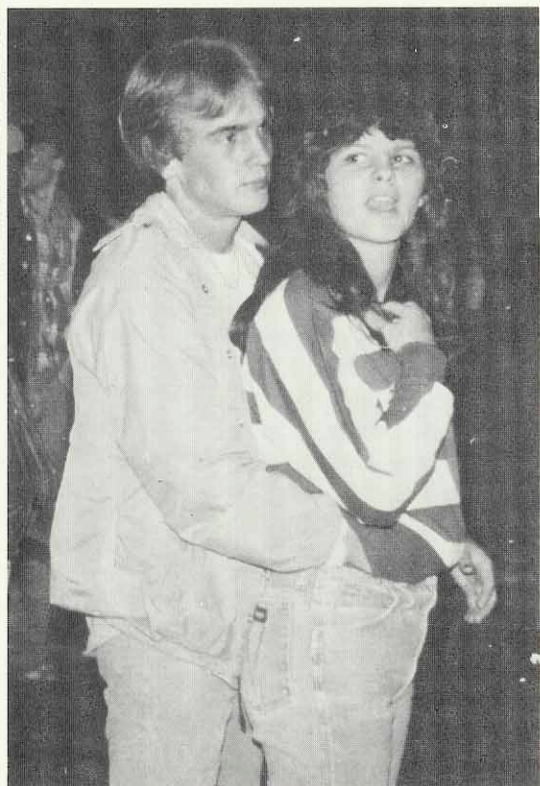

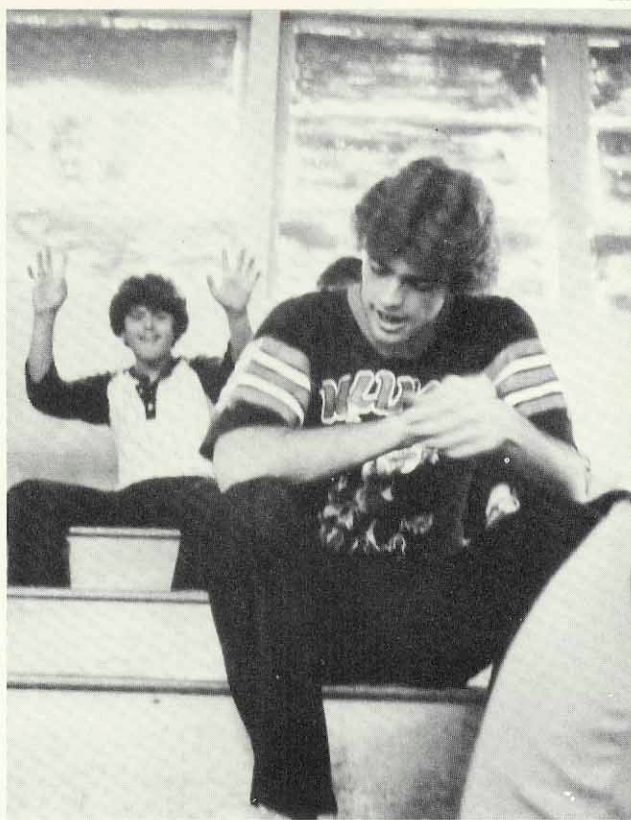

*This is an experience . . . both exciting and new;
Now we see the world from a different point of view.*

*As we seek our destinies and each goes his way,
Let us remember back to that graduation day . . .*

The day when each of us departed and the day that our new lives started.

— Suzie Smart —

1. Paula Adams, being of wild mind and sturdy body, will to Tweety and all my friends all the good times at R.H.S. and to Vonda and Teresa as many good times out of school as we had in school.
1. Mark Alexander, being of rested mind and worn out body, will to John Arnold, the ability to leave school to go eat and not get caught.
1. Jeffrey Armstrong, being of wild mind and body, do hereby will to Danette and Dewayne the ability to lay-out of class without getting caught, and to Wendy, my last name.
1. Kelly Armstrong, being of forgetful mind and lazy body, will to Danette the ability to live through our motorcycle adventures and to Bobby Harden, hot biscuits for breakfast for the rest of his life.
1. Tammy Armstrong, being of unpredictable mind but devoted body, will to Marla P. my "collection" of river rocks, to my "babies" a new sitter, and to Kevin, I give you your hat!!!
1. Jeff Arnold, being of fried mind and lazy body, will to anybody the ability to lay-out as much as I have and not get caught.
1. Linda Austin, being of absent mind and short body, will to Lisa the ability to get what she really wants and to Brenda, Felicia, Kim, Sharon, and Sheila the best of luck.
